

Court Day Business Small But Active

The crowd at the cattle pens Monday, court day, was far from normal, but was composed of men who were there for business.

There was a great falling off in the number of cattle and will bring down the 1922 court day average to about 5,000.

Trade was active and by 3 o'clock in the afternoon the pens were empty. The stock was in fine condition and the number sold was about 1,750. These cattle, mostly young feeders and steers, sold from $4 to $6.80 per hundred.

Heifers, average in size and weight, made an average of $3 and $4 and up. Cows, not in the best condition, brought a price from 1-2 cents to 4 cents. It took a mighty good cow to bring 4 cents per pound. A bunch of yearlings sold at auction at $13.65 per head that would average around 300 pounds.

Quite a lot of good work mules were offered. Values were measured according to size and sold as follows per head: $60, $75, $135, $140 and one bunch was driven the old way to $150 each. There were not less than 100 of these assorted sizes.

Not many ponies were offered. They brought $60, $70 and as high as $85. The small one went to the mines.

But very few good horses were priced. We did not see any sales, but good saddle horses brought as high as $150.

Some lines of merchandise sold well. We mention here clothing and shoes. These lines were active as were toys and jewelry. There was also a good trade in tropical fruits and confections.

MISS BARNES DIES

A message received here yesterday announced the death of Miss Paulina Barnes, which occurred Sunday night at her home at Charleston, W. Va., following an operation for appendicitis. Miss Barnes was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Barnes and with her parents lived in this city until a few years ago. She was a niece of T. K. Barnes and Mrs. A. H. Judy and was widely related here. The funeral and burial took place at Charleston today.

MRS. AUGUR DEAD

Mrs. Sarah Augur, of Russellville, died on Thursday at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Priest, at Lafayette, Ind., after a short illness. She is survived by one son, Buford Boone, of this city, who was at her bedside when death came. In the loss of this beloved mother Mr. Boone has the sympathy of many friends.

Hiram H. Hatton Dies of Pneumonia

On December 13, Hiram H. Hatton died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James Campbell, in Bath county, from an attack of pneumonia after having been sick a very short time.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. B. W. Trimble at the home of his son, Warren Hatton, with burial in Machpelah cemetery. Mr. Hatton is survived by seven children—Warren Hatton, this city; Mrs. James Campbell, Bath county; Sam and Joe Hatton, Richmond; Mrs. Vera Ringo, Austin, Ore.; Lee Hatton, Galveston, Texas, and Logan Hatton, Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Hatton was a member of the Presbyterian church and realized that salvation came through repentance to God and faith in Jesus Christ. Such a man scatters seeds of kindness wherever he goes and had an influence so pronounced that the world was made better by his having lived in it. To his children of his own training we would impart the words, "Follow your father, as he has followed Christ."

SOME TOBACCO

J. W. Thompson raised one and one-half acres of tobacco on the W. W. Wilson place on the Camargo pike the past season the crop from which weighed 2,535 pounds, and for which an advance was given on the local market of $314. It is believed, when the final settlements have been made on this crop, he will realize close to $1,000. This is certainly some record and one we believe will be hard to beat.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

CHRISTMAS SERVICE

The local Knights Templar will hold their Christmas service at the Presbyterian church Monday morning at 10 o'clock, and it is hoped all Knights will be present on this occasion. Dr. C. W. Harris will have charge of the services and the sermon will be preached by Rev. C. A. Ray. The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

MAN INJURED

Peter R. Cockrell, while walking in the street Thursday night, was run into by a car driven by Omer Staton and rendered unconscious. Mr. Cockrell suffered no broken bones, but was badly bruised about the face and body, and is still confined to his bed. Mr. Staton is in no way to blame for the accident, which was unavoidable on account of the driving rain which clouded his windshield.

Hardman Acquitted Of Murder Charge

The jury composed of Lexington and Fayette county men into whose hands was placed the fate of Scobee Hardman, Bourbon county youth, charged with the murder of Leon Renaker, brought in a verdict at 10:16 o'clock this morning of "not guilty."

The case went to the jury at 10:10 o'clock last night and the jury was summoned by Judge Shackelford at midnight, asking for a report. They had been unable to agree and, showing the strain of the long day in the court room, asked to retire, which request was granted. Meeting again this morning, they reached a verdict within a short time.

The trial of Scobee Hardman, following the brutal murder of Leon Renaker, wealthy Winchester poultry dealer, which occurred at his home last July, has been one of the most widely discussed cases tried in Kentucky in years. Both parties were prominently connected and a talented array of legal talent was engaged on each side. Indicted by a recent Clark county grand jury are Mrs. Nancy Kathryn Renaker, widow of the slain man, and Reese Fox, a close friend of Hardman, who were charged with conspiracy. However, now that Hardman has been found "not guilty," it is not likely that either of the other two parties under indictment will ever be brought to trial.

Leon Renaker was well known in this city, where he lived when a small boy when his father was associated in the poultry business with the late Thomas Heinrich.

It is said that the general opinion prevailed in Winchester that Hardman was the guilty man, but the commonwealth certainly made a very weak case and the verdict was a foregone conclusion with those that had kept up with the court proceedings.

To Resume Receiving Tobacco Tomorrow

The local loose leaf floors will resume receiving tobacco tomorrow after having been closed for the past two days due to congestion on the local brakes. On Thursday of last week the association began giving an additional advance on the crop which will amount to about two cents on the pound and will make the crop bring an advance of between 10 and 11 cents per pound. On last Friday 156,000 pounds brought an advance of $10.65 per hundred. The local house will be open through Saturday of this week for loads or parts of crops already registered, but after that day only complete crops or barnlots will be received. Farmers should register their crops for delivery after Christmas now, but do not register crops that have not been stripped.

Rum Bandits Raid Bond Bros. House

Bandits removed 430 gallons of liquor from Bond Brothers' distillery near Lawrenceburg, Anderson county, Saturday morning after securely tying and gagging Lester Tinsley, distillery guard. The whisky was taken away in an automobile truck and Tinsley was not discovered bound until 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the relief guard reported for duty.

Several hours later William Perry, chief of police at Shelbyville, as he scanned the motor traffic of that city noted a speeding automobile truck loaded with tobacco. The truck was stopped and prompted by a suspicion that the tobacco had been loaded too carefully for ordinary purposes, the police chief conducted a search which revealed a quantity of whisky valued at $16,000. The driver of the truck and his companion are said to be residents of Louisville and were traveling in the direction of their home when stopped. The men gave their names as J. C. Brown and T. M. Brashers.

OFF FOR THE LAND OF SUNSHINE AND BLOOMS

Judge H. Clay McKee and wife left for St. Petersburg, Fla., Friday, and expect to be absent until May, 1923. The judge will during his stay practice law and engage in a general real estate business. He will sell, trade or purchase. We might add that he will measure even with the ablest lawyers and as to the real estate business he knows it without the missing of a word. Again we want to say that he is up-to-date, a live wire and strictly honest, and but for the fact that the southern zephyrs are conducive to his health and also to his wife's health, we would have a fence built around his apartment so strong that they could not break through and so high they could not climb over; we need them here.

TURKEY MONEY

The money put into circulation here from the 1922 turkey crop will reach at least $50,000. The G. D. Sullivan yards received a gross weight of 75,000 pounds and the other yards supplied the balance. The yards exceeded in weight that of 1921 by about 30,000 pounds.

Two More "Bite Dust" In Menefee

One more prohibition officer killed, one moonshiner shot so badly that he died en route to this city, is the result of a raid made on the Ballard still, near Cedar Grove, in Menefee county, early last Friday morning.

The two men killed were Guy Cole, prohibition officer, of Bowling Green, and Bob Ballard, leader of the moonshiners. Both bodies were brought to this city that afternoon and Cole's body was sent on to Lexington and thence to his former home, while the body of Ballard remained at the undertaking establishment until Monday, when it was returned to his native soil. In the same raid, which took place at daybreak Friday morning when the moonshiners were surprised and surrounded in a house by a posse of 25 or 30 officers, Jeff Ballard and son, Albert Ballard, Joe Clem and Ed Reffitt were captured and taken to Lexington, where they were lodged in jail. Charlie Ballard was badly wounded, but, with a pistol in each hand, made his escape through the officers and into the open country to freedom. However, his wounds were of such a serious nature that on Saturday he sent for the sheriff of his county, who placed him under arrest near Preston, Bath county, and took him to the jail at Frenchburg. On Sunday afternoon he was removed to the jail at Lexington, where he could receive medical attention, and, it is now stated, unless complications arise, his recovery is assured. The killing of these two men makes a total of four that were killed in an effort to capture the Ballard still. Those previously killed were Robert Duff and Dave Treadway.

CAN THE LIVING TALK WITH THE DEAD?

This will be the subject of a lecture to be given at the court house Saturday afternoon, December 23, at 2 o'clock by J. L. Bolling, of Chicago. This is one of the most vital subjects now agitating the public mind and Mr. Bolling will endeavor to tell the Bible truth in respect to same. The speaker is said to possess an array of Biblical facts on the subject and hopes a large crowd will be present on this occasion.

CALLOWAY FARMERS USE TERRACES TO SAVE SOIL

Terraces bid fair to solve a big problem for Calloway county farmers who have hilly land that washes easily, according to County Agent J. B. Gardner. Scores of farmers in that section of the state are showing a lively interest in terraces as a means of preventing this damage. In order to meet the increasing demand for information on how to build terraces, County Agent Gardner, in co-operation with the extension division of the College of Agriculture at Lexington, recently held five demonstrations on different farms in the county in order to point out the essential features in building one. The fact that the number of farms in the county having terraces has increased from one in 1920 to thirty at the present time, is taken as an indication of the increased interest which farmers are showing in them as soil savers.

MORE G. O. P. TRIBULATIONS

Spectators of the Republican attempts to impeach and oust Harry M. Daugherty from the office of attorney general foresee that, whatever congress may do with the charges, the whole proceedings will be an issue in the presidential campaign in 1924. Opponents of President Harding's re-nomination are sure to derive a good deal of satisfaction and not a little political capital from the struggle to remove a member of his cabinet from his position.

The fight on Attorney General Daugherty had its inspiration and receives its impetus wholly from Republicans. The Democrats in congress, although they believe that Daugherty's appointment and retention as attorney general have proved deplorable and detrimental, have not undertaken to impeach him. They are waiting that the president shall bear the responsibility for his attorney general's acts and omissions.

President Harding is pretty certain to exert his influence with the Republican reactionaries in the house and the senate to defeat the attempt at eliminating and humiliating Mr. Daugherty. There is little likelihood that impeachment will be voted, but there is every prospect that the efforts of Daugherty's friends to prevent a record vote will be made the subject of a good deal of publicity.

It is this presidential interposition in Daugherty's behalf that will inflame a good many Republicans in congress and outside of it. Those Republicans who already regard Daugherty as a heavy liability are indignant that he has given an excuse for impeachment and will be very angry if he is "whitewashed"—as they feel he will be—by the Republican house acting on the assumption if not upon the intimation that the administration would suffer by this outcome.

If Daugherty is acquitted of the charges which Republicans have preferred against him there doubtless will be a strong belief that powerful influence saved him. If he is convicted, either after a formal trial or in the court of public opinion, he will continue to be a deadweight on the Republican administration. Republicans in congress have so thoroughly discredited Mr. Harding's attorney general that he is sure to furnish one faction of his party with a war cry against the other and corroborate Democratic charges that Mr. Daugherty began his career in the cabinet as a political mistake which has since become a public misfortune.

NURSE ASKS ASSISTANCE FOR UNFORTUNATE ONES

The Christmas season is here and Christmas day will be a happy one in a majority of the homes in this city and community. This has been a prosperous and abundant year. Will you not be moved by the spirit of "universal kindness," which has shown throughout the ages, and help to brighten the homes of the unfortunate ones? They will not have a good Christmas dinner and Santa Claus for the children unless you help out of your bounty. Miss Florence Wallingford, the community nurse, who is going about among these families both in town and in the country, knows the conditions, and reports that there are thirty-five families who will not have any Christmas joy or good things to eat unless they are supplied by other agencies. There are several aged persons who are infirm and helpless. There are widows with five or more orphan children whose only means of support is over the washtub, or similar employment. Miss Wallingford plans to give each family a basket containing food for the Christmas dinner and a toy, not a cast off toy, but a new one, for each child. Do you not want to help with this splendid work? Communicate with Miss Wallingford or send donations to the Rest Room.

HIGH COSTS PROSPERITY SIGN—FOR PROFITEERS

At a time when business of any kind may be rated as an "extra hazardous" undertaking—as revealed by the unprecedented number of commercial failures in the country—the cost of living shows a steady upward progress month after month. The Republican doctrine that high prices are at once a promoter and a proof of prosperity seems to be confounded by recent statistics.

The monthly index number of average commercial prices, compiled by Dun's Review as of December 1, 1922, shows an increase of one and five-eighths per cent over that for November—at the rate of nineteen and a half per cent a year. Compared with the index number for July 1, 1921—four months after President Harding's inauguration—the index number for December, 1922, showed an increase of sixteen per cent. Nearly all commodities underwent increases in price. The largest increase was in foodstuffs, which showed an advance of three and one-fourth per cent, compared with November. There was a rise of two and one-fourth in textile materials and clothing, which are excessively protected by the profiteers' tariff act.

WEBSTER FARMERS ADOPT COMMUNITY PLAN OF WORK

Webster county farmers in the Poole and Corinth communities of the county, working in co-operation with the extension division of the College of Agriculture at Lexington and County Agent L. E. Cutler, have mapped out programs of work for the coming year in an effort to get at the heart of some of their farm and home problems and make farming more profitable in that section of the state. Farmers in both communities showed keen interest in the possibilities of organized community effort as a means of making farming more profitable and it is expected that the programs outlined for both communities will be carried to completion.

Representative farmers from both communities met at different times with County Agent Cutler at which time the chief sources of income for farmers in the two communities were outlined and a study made to find out just what cause was cutting down the returns from each one of them. After these conclusions were reached definite remedies were outlined, demonstrations were arranged on various farms in the two communities to show the value of the remedies and local leaders named to superintend the carrying out of the demonstrations.

Tobacco, corn, poultry, wheat, hogs, beef cattle, sheep, dairy cattle, apples and soybeans were found to be the chief sources of income in the Corinth community. Farming conditions in the community were studied and the principal factor that limits the returns from each of these lines was determined. After further discussion, the farmers and County Agent Cutler decided upon the best remedy in each case after which 17 demonstration were planned for different farms in the community and farmers appointed to see that the demonstrations were carried out. Farmers appointed as local leaders to superintend the demonstrations included R. W. Hockett, J. A. Weldon, T. M.
Townsend, Finis McCoy, W. L. Hig-ginson and P. B. Austin.

A similar study was made in the Poole community where tobacco, corn, wheat, poultry, hogs, dairy cattle and sheep were found to be the chief sources of income. Farmers appointed as local leaders to look after the demonstration in that community included Jack Melton, Vatter Crowley, Tom Browly, Henry Watson, Edward Melton, H. L. Crowley, Edwin Allen and Carl Crowley.

Paris School Bonds Killed By Big Vote

The school bond issue for the purpose of constructing and equipping an additional school building for the white children of Paris failed to carry by 43 votes in Saturday's election.
The vote stood 267 for and 198 against, which failed to give the two-thirds majority believed necessary to carry a bond issue. Opinion was divided at the court house Saturday night with regard to the required majority, but the best authorities available seemed to hold the necessity of a two-thirds vote.

The following brief account of an interview with a Mt. Sterling man, many years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen:

S. M. Warner, retired merchant,
Maysville St., Mt. Sterling, says:
"Kidney complaint came on some time ago and my back and sides ached dreadfully. The least movement sent pains through my body. I was confined to my bed and was delirious part of the time. My kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills from Duerson's drug store until I was improved in every way."
(Statement given January 6, 1917).

On December 13, 1920, Mr. Warner said: "Since I recommended Doan's Kidney Pills I have used them several times when I have felt my kidneys required a little tonic and they have always helped me."

Court Will Pass On Normal School Laws

A test case to determine the constitutionality of the normal school act and to define the rights of the commission and the state board of education in "establishing" the new schools will be filed in the Franklin circuit court early this week, George Colvin, state superintendent, said Saturday.
The action will be filed on behalf of John J. Craig, state auditor, by Chas.
I. Dawson, attorney general, it is understood.

Court action, which has been considered a possibility for undoing the work of the commission in selecting Morehead and Murray as the sites of the two new schools was decided upon Saturday by Mr. Colvin, after the county and city superintendents in session at Frankfort had voted unanimously for a "full and complete investigation before the proper tribunal."
The action probably will be brought under the declaratory judgment act passed by the last legislature, according to Mr. Colvin, so that the question can be settled as speedily as possible.

The normal school commission and the state board of education have been at odds over the duties delegated to each by the act passed by the 1922 general assembly creating the new institutions. The board has contended that it has the right to name the president, the faculty and prescribe the course of study to be pursued. It is claimed that the duty of the commission ended with the selection of the sites.

TO COMMEMORATE LIVES AND DEEDS OF DEPARTED HEROES

The meeting at the Baptist church Sunday evening was made up of representative men and women, determined on the enforcement of the laws of our commonwealth. Not only was this meeting a determined gathering, but responsive to every thought by the speakers of the evening. When prohibition became national and the 18th amendment to the constitution became a basal law, it was well said that advocates of the measure slept and while sleeping opponents became bold in violation of law, even to the taking of life, but this last act, precipitation to death, has so awakened our people that they are now armed and marching on to conquer and enforcement. The speakers deplored conditions and gave out the remedy, co-operation with the officials, would restore violations of law to normalcy and bring peace and contentment into every home. A demand invites supply. This principle is general. It was a demand for morphine that caused the supply; likewise the tar remedies, and whisky is not an exception. The person who buys his quart is a participant in the manufacture and becomes a party to crime, though it be far-reaching. The man who even talks the need is likewise contributing to law violation. We cannot guard too closely our speech and our actions.

HANG UP THE BABY'S STOCKING

Hang up the baby's stocking.

Be sure you don't forget;

The dear little dimpled darling

Has never seen Christmas yet,

But I've told her all about it,

And she opened her big, blue eyes,

And I'm sure she understood it—

She looked so funny and wise.

Dear! what a tiny stocking.

It doesn't take much to hold

Such little pink toes as baby's

Away from the frost and cold.

But, then, for the baby's Christmas

It will never do at all;

Why, Santa wouldn't be looking

For anything half so small.

I know what will do for the baby—

I've thought of the very best plan—

I'll borrow a stocking from grandma,

The longest that ever I can;

And you'll hang it by mine, dear mother,

Right here in the corner—so,

And write a letter to Santa

And fasten it on the toe.

Write "This is the baby's stocking

That hangs in the corner here.

You never have seen her, Santa,

For she only came last year.

But she's just the blissest baby!

And, now before you go,

Just cram her stocking with goodies

From the top clean down to the toe!"

—Edgar S. Werner.

RELIGIOUS

The all-day meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. E. T. Robertson December 14. The devotional and literary program was led by Mrs. Bert Wyatt. At the noon hour a most delicious lunch was served. After a short time spent socially the business session was called to order by the vice president, Mrs. David Howell. The reports of the treasurer and various superintendents were given as this was the last meeting of the old year. The following officers were elected to serve during the coming year: President, Mrs. Thomas Heinrich; vice president, Mrs. Herbert Moss; superintendent social service, Mrs. Charles Oldham; superintendent local work, Mrs. Steve Pieratt; superintendent of Bible study, Mrs. Marshall Myers; superintendent supplies, Mrs. D. H. Bush; superintendent young people, Mrs. Ben Turner; superintendent of mission study and publicity, Mrs. W. T. Tyler; agent of voice, Mrs. J. H. Wood; treasurer, Mrs. Albert Stofer; assistant treasurer, Mrs. E. T. Robertson; corresponding secretary, Miss Sally McDonald; recording secretary, Mrs. Will Mason.

SICK

Mrs. R. E. May, who has been ill for some time, is slowly improving.

John Speer has been quite sick for the past week at his home on West Main street.

Mrs. George Anderson, Sr., who has been quite ill for several months, has become worse the past few days.

G. W. Staton has been quite ill with typhoid fever, but is now convalescent, able to be up and about his home.

Mrs. Thomas Heinrich is seriously sick with pneumonia. She is at the home of her son, Joe Heinrich, on Harrison avenue.

ATTENTION! TOBACCO GROWERS

All tobacco for delivery to the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association after January 1, 1923, must be delivered in crop lots. We will register only crops that are stripped and ready for delivery. Please do not register until ready to deliver your entire crop.

Members who have crops ready for delivery may register any time during Christmas week, either in person or by calling phone 134.

Members should take more care in loading their tobacco by grades as this will assist us greatly in unloading your tobacco at the warehouses. Also be more careful in the way your tobacco is sorted by basket as the grader is unable to put the proper grade on a mixed basket. Remember this is money to YOU to properly sort your tobacco.

ROCKCASTLE FARMERS GIVE HENS RIGHT FEED AND CARE

Rockcastle county farmers and their wives are giving more attention to better methods of feeding, housing and taking care of their chickens. County Agent Robert F. Spence says. A recent visit to the county by J. R. Smythe, a member of the poultry department of the College of Agriculture at Lexington, marked a big step in the work. One of the important things done during the visit of Mr. Smythe to the county was the certification of the flock belonging to Mrs. R. C. Coomer. The fact that her flock was certified signified that she has high quality stock from which other farmers of the state can obtain hatching eggs with which to build up their flocks. A flock of 456 hens belonging to C. H. Jett was culled during the same week in order to remove the hens that were poor layers not capable of paying for their feed and care. A further sign of the increasing interest in improved and practical poultry methods, according to Mr. Spence, is the fact that two new poultry houses have just been finished in the county.

LIQUIDATION OF SECURITIES

The following was broadcasted yesterday by W. H. Yeasting, president of the Ohio Bankers' Association:

More than ever before we are forcibly impressed with the wide-spread effect of the government campaign during the war for the huge amounts of money which went into our efforts in the world conflict.

On the first day of the coming month there will be due and payable to approximately 20,000,000 people who invested in the 1918 series of war savings stamps an amount in excess of $700,000,000, which stupendous sum represents the amount of outstanding 1918 war savings stamps. This means that practically every family in the nation will receive some amount back from the government. The payment of this vast sum will benefit every city, town and hamlet in the country, as there is hardly a community which did not invest, through its people, in these "baby bonds." On January 1 the government will not only return the amount invested, but the five years' accumulated interest as well.

Never before has there been such a wide-spread and effective lesson in thrift placed before the American people. Never before was there the response to such an effort so general. Presenting as it did an opportunity for the investment of even the smallest sum, the government's plan hammered home the possibilities of saving in small amounts as no other medium could. The people of Ohio invested $106,000,000 in war savings stamps. Of this amount, $60,000,000 remains to be redeemed on January 1 to the original owners. This means that 56 per cent of the stamps originally sold are still owned by those who bought them.

In an effort to continue the plan of thrift, developing safe and consistent saving, the government is issuing a new five-year security similar to the war savings stamps and known as treasury savings certificates, in denominations of $1,000, $100 and $25, which can be purchased for $820, $82 and $20.50, respectively. Of this new issue individuals and corporations may own $5,000, maturity value, which is a great improvement over the 1918 issue of war savings stamps, when the limitation of ownership was $1,000, maturity value.

Records of the savings division of this district show that Ohio led the nation in the purchase of these securities. While the people of Ohio may not be better savers, certain it is that they responded more readily and in greater volume to the very superior plan of campaign worked out by the Ohio organization.

Holders of these securities soon to be cashed are warned against the unwise investment of the money to be paid them. The banks of the state have been appealed to in an effort to give the most trustworthy guidance to those having such money to reinvest. As during the war days, the banks have responded wholeheartedly, agreeing to all the expert knowledge at their disposal in the hands of customers and non-customers alike may be interested in safely reinvesting their redemption money. While officials of the savings division of this district are urging the holders of 1918 war savings stamps to reinvest in treasury savings certificates, they do not discourage the buying of safe bonds and other securities, but they do make it plain that such investments should be made only after thorough investigation through established financial channels. The Ohio Bankers' Association, the membership of which consists of about 1,200 banking institutions in the state, recently passed a resolution tendering to the treasury department their fullest co-operation in effecting the redemption of Victory notes and 1918 war savings stamps, and at this time I wish to reiterate this expression of assistance. No matter what course owners of these securities desire to take, we want every one to feel that they are free to consult with the officials of any bank in the state regarding the reinvestment of the money received from the redemption of the maturing government securities.

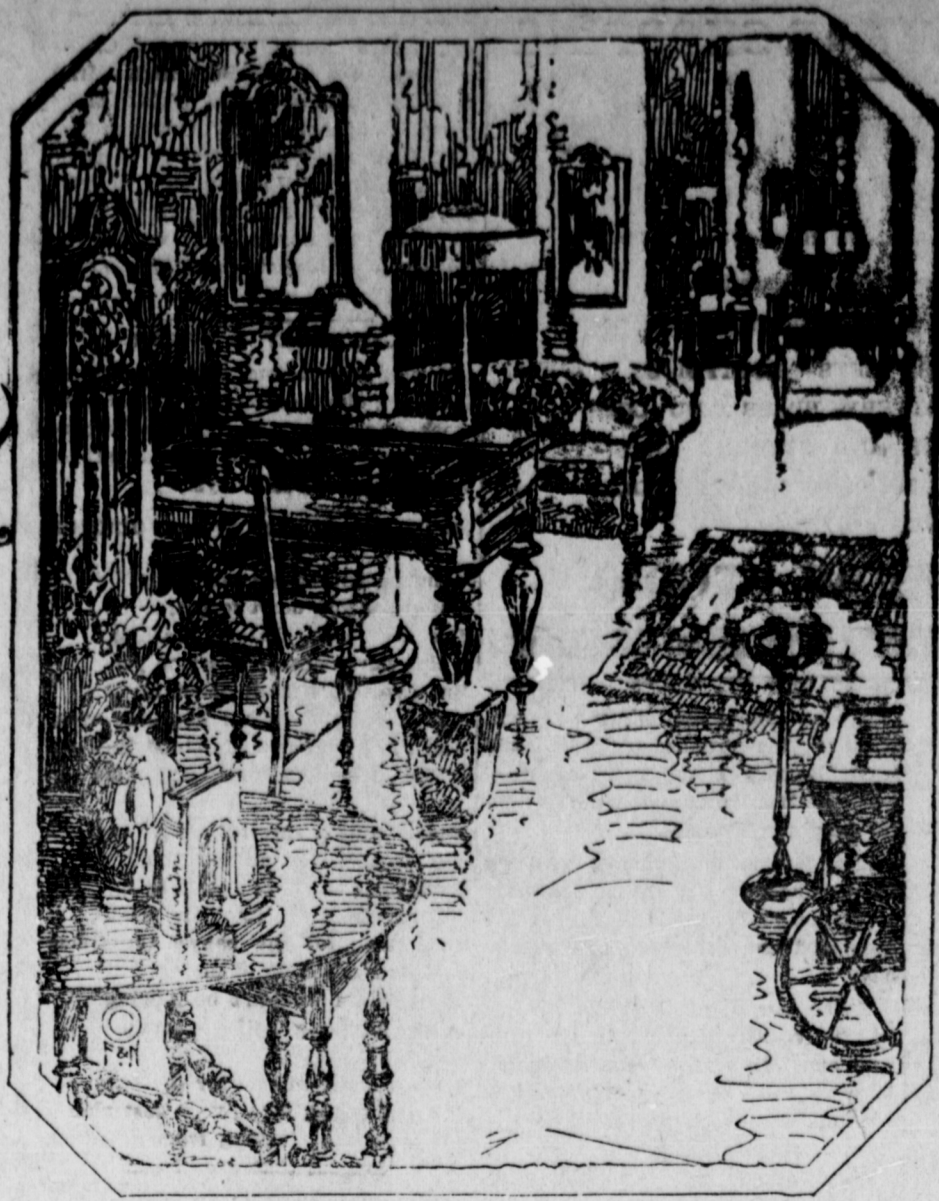

cently passed a resolution tendering to the treasury department their fullest co-operation in effecting the redemption of Victory notes and 1918 war savings stamps, and at this time I wish to reiterate this expression of assistance. CARROLL FARMERS AFTER BIGGER YIELDS OF CORN

Care in the selection of seed corn as a means of boosting the yield of this crop received special attention of farmers in Carroll county this fall, according to County Agent G. C. Reutt. Six demonstrations were held on farms in different parts of the county by Mr. Reutt to point out some of the things to watch in picking out ears of corn to be used for seed.

FARM AND HOME NEWS FROM OVER KENTUCKY

Lee county farmers recently planted 1,500 trees on their farms in one month, according to County Agent T. H. Jones. Work put on in the county during the summer just past by the county agent and the extension division of the College of Agriculture at Lexington is held largely responsible for the interest which farmers of the county are taking in the development of their home orchards.

Twelve Fayette county farmers will co-operate with County Agent W. R. Gabbert and the extension division of the College of Agriculture during the coming year in putting on beef cattle feeding demonstrations on their farms to bring out practical pointers on the fattening of cattle for other farmers of the county.

Union county farmers living in the Waverly community co-operating with County Agent L. C. Brewer, will use organized community effort in attempting to get at the heart of some of their farm and home problems. One hundred fifty of them attended the meeting when the community club was formed and the program of work outlined. This is the seventh community in the county to adopt a similar line of work.

FARM MEETING PROGRAM

ALREADY WELL STARTED

Plans for the eleventh annual Farm and Home Convention to be held at the College of Agriculture on January 30 to February 2 next year for Kentucky farmers and their wives already are well under way, according to an announcement by N. R. Elliott, who is in charge of the program for the event. Talks, demonstrations and conferences to give farmers and their wives practical pointers on a wide variety of important farm and home problems already are scheduled on the program which is fast taking a definite form.

Problems dealing with sheep and wool, alfalfa and the farm home will get attention on the first day of the program, Tuesday, January 30. The principal speakers on that day will be Miss Mary E. Sweeney, Washington, D. C., and R. C. Miller, L. J. Horlacher and E. J. Kinney, of the college.

Hog, tobacco, poultry, fruit, vegetable and rural church problems will be the headlines on the Wednesday program, January 31. The speakers for the day will include Miss Sweeney, Ben E. Niles, Henderson, secretary of the Kentucky State Horticultural Society, and W. D. Valleau, Geo. Roberts, W. W. Dimock, Miss Margaret Coffin, Miss Eleanor Enright, A. J. Olney, J. S. Gardner, J. H. Martin and J. R. Smyth, of the college.

On Thursday, February 1, the chief subjects for discussion will be those dealing with dairying, turkeys and the rural schools. The speakers already scheduled for talks on the program for the day include J. H. McLain, of the United States Department of Agriculture; Mrs. M. L. Hall, Shelbyville, and Miss Katherine Christian, Miss Irene Piedaloe, Miss Nellie Gard and A. J. Steiner, all of the college.

Beef cattle subjects and those dealing with the rural community will be the main ones on the Friday program. The speakers will include Mr. Phillips, M. O. Hughes, Louisville; Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, and Wayland Rhoads and T. R. Bryant, of the college.

CHRISTMAS CLUB IS A SYSTEMATIC SAVINGS PLAN

We are pleased to announce that the Traders National Bank of our city has started its plan for saving money. It is called the Christmas Club.

The plan is very simple. The bank will furnish to any one who calls, either man, woman or child, an attractive Christmas Club pass book.

The smallest amounts for which accounts can be opened are 1c, 2c, 5c or 10c, and think of it. With this small beginning the club member will have, at the end of 50 weeks, either $12.50, $25.00, $37.50 or $127.50. Your first deposit made with only 1c, 2c, 5c, or 10c and you increase your deposit this same amount each week.

The bank also offers what they term an even amount club plan whereby you start with either 25c, 50c, $1, $2, $5, $20 or more and deposit this same amount each week for a period of 50 weeks. At the end of this time at his option the club member may draw out either all or a part of this Christmas Club money for his Christmas needs or else leave all or a part of the club money stay in the Traders National Bank to open a regular new bank account or to add to an existing balance.

The main idea of the Christmas Club is that when a person joins he makes up his mind, then and there, to go through with the plan and sets for himself a goal.

This campaign for thrift is certainly to be commended and the Traders National Bank is to be congratulated for offering such an attractive system to every one for saving money.

A republican is that form of government in which everyone knows just what should be done and nobody knows just how.

A man's definition of a living wage depends on whether he is getting it or giving it.

It may not be of much interest to anybody, but we don't see why they don't do away with money altogether in central and western Europe. It isn't worth much anyway.

Pool Marketing Plan Approved

Sent to Washington by contributions of 50 cents to $1 from farmers and small town business men of central North Dakota, John Fray, a German farmer of Turtle Lake, N. D., detailed to the senate agricultural committee yesterday the plight of farmers of his section.

Fray told how he had given up his real estate business and gone to farming three years ago, only to come to the conclusion that the average farmer in North Dakota has little hope of making a living.

"We are going to give up our farms unless we can get some help," he said. "From 50 to 75 per cent of us are up against it. None of our boys are going to stay on the farms next year. They say it is hopeless."

The witness cited instances of taxes unpaid for three years on farms in his section and told of low prices received during the past year for farm products—less than a dollar a bushel for wheat, 18 cents for butter and 7 1/2 cents a pound for chickens. He told of the heavy mortgages burdening most of the farms, and added:

"About the only thing we have left unencumbered are energy and our wives and children."

"What we need is some assurance for two or three years. The government can give us that by fixing the prices for our products which will enable us merely to pay our debts and start even again."

Similar testimony regarding distress among farmers was given before the senate banking committee by representatives of farmers' co-operative associations.

Opening of the federal reserve system to farmers by extending the time limits of its loans was urged by Aaron Sapiro, general counsel for co-operative market associations of producers of cotton, tobacco, rice and other commodities. He recommended for farm credits an adaptation of the federal reserve system to permit loans to farmers extending over their production or turn-over periods.

"We are against any new system of agricultural banks," said Mr. Sapiro. "We desire to make the present federal reserve system available to farmers, to tap the normal supplies of credit and make the federal reserve funds available to farmers and co-operative associations that will put them on the same basis of credit with other industries."

The Lenroot-Anderson bill was approved in the main by Mr. Sapiro and he said that through state laws co-operative credit associations of farmers also should be authorized.

The banking committee session developed into a study of co-operative marketing, a movement which seemed to receive the hearty approval of committee members.

Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, author of the federal reserve act, expressed approval of the theory of providing agriculture, as an industry, the necessary credit of the federal reserve system which other basic industries are accorded. He pointed out that the present system provides for six months agricultural credit as compared with three months for general commerce.

Mr. Sapiro said the six months term ought to be extended to nine months. He criticized the United States Growers, incorporated, declaring it had made an improper attempt at co-operative marketing.

THIS IS THE MONTH

To smoke meat.
To get out the hobsied.
To spray for San Jose scale.
To keep plenty of litter in the scratch shed.

To spread every bit of manure before the heavy feeding begins.
To balance the year's books and to take note of the errors that have cost profits.

To make this a real Christmas by entering into it with zest and the spirit of usefulness.

To be certain that the poultry ration contains meat and greens to replace the natural summer feed.

To make the long winter evenings periods of pleasure to pay for the hard work of the last summer.

To guard against colds and roup in poultry. There is no place where a little care keeps so much trouble away.

To add feeding molasses to the roughage. It works for palatability, and in addition has a nutritive value of its own.

To review the past season's work and to take up with the county agent or state experiment station those problems that puzzle.

To see that every tool and implement is carefully put away for the winter and that broken parts are repaired or replaced. That's doing some of next spring's work now.—Farm Life.

DEMOCRATS BEGIN PLANS FOR JACKSON DAY DINNERS

Democrats in several states have been stirred to activity by the suggestion of Chairman Cordell Hull, of the Democratic national committee, that Jackson Day be observed over the country as a means of making the recent Democratic victory the beginning of an enthusiastic and successful campaign in 1924. Already Democrats have begun to plan for dinners on Jackson Day, January 8, and to arrange for speakers.

Democratic national committeemen and the chairmen of state and county organizations, it is expected, will join in promoting these Democratic dinners. Chairman Hull has written to these party officials suggesting that not only Jackson Day but also other Democratic anniversaries be made the occasion for gatherings of Democrats and for promotion of Democratic organization and effort.

FARMERS GET POINTERS ON BUTCHERING AT HOME

Farmers in an increasing number of Kentucky counties are getting new pointers on the best methods to use in killing and curing meats on their farms as the schedule of meetings and demonstrations being held over the state by the extension division of the College of Agriculture goes forward, according to Grady Sellards, swine extension specialist of the college, who is in charge of the work. The most recent meetings have been in Logan, Barren and Davies counties with a total attendance of more than 250 farmers.

Just how to take care of the pork chop cut in butchering hogs so that local butchers over the state can take care of the surplus meat to the best advantage seems to be one of the chief difficulties of farmers who do their own butchering. Unless this cut is taken out in the same manner on the farm that packers use, it is impossible for butchers to use the surplus pork chops that farmers may wish to sell, Mr. Sellards says. One Russellville butcher offered to pay 15 cents a pound for any surplus pork chops farmers in that section of the state might have, provided they were taken out of the carcass by the correct method.

In following the method of packers in taking out the pork chop cut, the back is first split and then about the upper one-third of the side, containing the pork chops and the clear fat back is removed. These two then are separated, leaving the pork chops with the right amount of back bone and rib on them.

Many farmers in cutting up their pork carcasses now make the mistake of marring this pork chop cut by carving it into several pieces. This makes it impossible for the local butcher who buys surplus chops from the farmer to cut off pork chops for his trade. Another advantage in taking the chops out by this method is the fact that the loin can be separated from the rest of the chops and canned or used for sausage. The latter point is especially desirable in view of the fact that there is seldom enough lean meat resulting from the farm butchering to make good sausage.

A critic is a man who can't do a thing himself, but tells how the other fellow doesn't do it right.

"Doesn't your wife get lonesome at home all day alone?" "Oh, no, she has a mirror in every room."

KENTON LEAF GROWERS GET POINTERS ON QUALITY CROP

Close to 200 Kenton county farmers recently attended eight demonstrations put on in different sections of the county through the co-operation of the extension division of the College of Agriculture and the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association to give burley growers in that section of the state practical pointers on how to strip and grade their leaf crop to the best advantage, according to County Agent C. A. Wicklund. The demonstrations, which were conducted by a grader from the association, aroused lively interest with the result that considerable improvement is expected to be brought about in the method of stripping and grading burley in that section.

Those in charge of the demonstrations found a better knowledge of the right principles of stripping and grading among growers of that section than had been expected, while the quality of tobacco raised this year also was considered excellent in view of bad conditions which existed during the growing season just past.

Points which got special attention in the demonstrations included the grading of burley so as to get the leaves of uniform length and color in the same hand, the keeping of green, ragged and off-color leaves to themselves and the proper trying of hands with good leaves instead of with poor or green leaves as is often done. The demonstrations as a whole served to impress growers of that section with the fact that quality in the leaf crop is more important than quantity and many of them are expected to be guided by this principle in the future as the result of what they learned at the meetings.

There are two classes of people—good people and bad people. And the classifying is done by the good folks.

BUY A MUSICAL INSTRUMENT FOR A CHRISTMAS PRESENT

There will be some persons who will want to make a Christmas present to wife or daughter and are undecided as to what it shall be. What would be more appreciated than a piano or some other musical instrument? E. C. Christian Music Company, Lexington, can furnish the instrument and give either a cash discount or terms to suit. Tobacco is going high, money will be plentiful and this long standing desire can be better met now than at any time in the past. If a piano or any other musical instrument is wanted, call E. C. Christian Music Company, Lexington, phone 592, long distance 3316, 205-297 East Main street.

25 ISSUES IN 15 YEARS

We had a newspaper man in Kentucky who went to St. Petersburg, Fla., about 15 years ago and launched the same business there, and in doing so he entered into an agreement with the city to the effect that he would give the proceeds of his paper each day the sun failed to shine to them. During the 15 years he has been there he has given only 25 issues of his publication to the city. Mr. Brown, editor and publisher, has prospered in business and today his publication stands at the top with the best newspapers in the land of sunshine and flowers. We can't call to mind Mr. Brown's surname, but we remember him as one time connected with the Courier-Journal and later as editor of a Harrodsburg paper. His success in Florida has been marvelous and we extend congratulations.

Look For The Big Sign

the distribution of butter for current use has been much lighter, because of decreased consumption. Prices paid for butterfat are lower, in sympathy with the butter market.

There is still a good deal of butter arriving that does not score as high as it should, thereby reducing its selling value. Better care of cream and cream utensils and more frequent deliveries will enable creameries to make better butter.

Arrivals of fresh eggs are increasing and market prices are lower, with a good demand noted for fine stock.

The holiday movement of poultry has been very heavy, but trading has been fairly satisfactory and stocks are cleared daily by placing the surplus in cold storage for future use.

The poultry industry has made great strides during the past few years, due to the general average improvement in the quality of birds as well as a decided increase in the number. During recent years the producer has learned that the hen is the most reliable producer and a year round cash crop. The improvement in the farm crop of poultry is due to the general recognition of the value of purebred and standard bred fowl as compared with "scrubs."

During the next few weeks, many producers will cull their flocks and most poultry dealers will be willing to trade, on a pound-for-pound basis, standard bred fowl and roosters for such stock as the producers desire to dispose of.

DIED IN NEW MEXICO

The body of Mrs. Anna Berry Sanders, who died at Portales, New Mexico, arrived here Saturday and was taken to her former home at Sharpburg. Funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. S. P. Clark, conducted by Rev. W. E. Harsell, and burial was in Crown Hill cemetery. Mrs. Sanders was 62 years old and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Frances Hancock, who accompanied her mother to this city. She had lived in

New Mexico for three years. Mrs. Sanders was a member of the Christian church for many years and was loved by all who knew her.

When a woman is always wishing that she had been born a man, you can bet that her husband shares the wish.
